Whatever is Inside the Heart

I heard this analogy recently, and I absolutely love it:

You are holding a cup of coffee when someone comes along and bumps into you or shakes your arm, making you spill your coffee everywhere.

Why did you spill the coffee? "Well because someone bumped into me, of course!" Wrong answer. You spilled the coffee because there was coffee in your cup. Had there been tea in the cup, you would have spilled tea. Whatever is inside the cup, is what will spill out.

I believe that's true, and it's such an important principle. Solomon said in Proverbs 4:23 (NIV), "Above all else, guard your heart, for everything you do flows from it." And Jesus said, "For out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks." (Matthew 12:34).

This is important because so much of what we do is the reaction of the moment. Most of us would manage fairly well if we could be given a situation and we had an hour to think about how we should handle it.

But rarely do we have that luxury. In most situations, we have only a few seconds to decide how we will react, and how we react will be determined by what's in our heart. Whatever is inside the heart, is what will spill out.

A driver cuts us off in traffic. Whatever is inside the heart, is what will spill out.

A schoolmate makes fun of us. Whatever is inside the heart, is what will spill out.

A co-worker gets the recognition for the work that we did. Whatever is inside the heart, is what will spill out.

The person in front of us in the grocery store line is causing a tremendous delay. Whatever is inside the heart, is what will spill out.

A heart filled with grace, joy and gratitude will respond one way. A heart filled with anger, bitterness and ingratitude will respond another. Whatever is inside the heart, is what will spill out. May we fill our heart with all of those Christ-like qualities so that whenever we are "bumped", that's what spills out!

Family Events

"So then, while we have opportunity, let us do good to all people, and especially to those who are of the household of the faith." Galatians 6:10, NAS95.

If you are a visitor to our church, welcome! If you have questions, we welcome them; please do not hesitate to ask Park Linscomb, our minister, the really tall guy, or any other church member.

There are many in our congregation that quietly and consistently clear sidewalks and steps, prepare the Lord's Supper, take communion to shut-ins, take the trash to the curb on Wednesday evenings, pick up bread at Panera, and minister through mail. Each of you brings glory to God and thank you.

- Prayerfully consider how you can help serve from the many following needs.

Benevolence - Pantry

This ministry helps people out weekly. Talk with Dave Skerry about helping.

Lord's Supper to Shut-ins

Volunteers needed, now. Please talk with Doug Paul about this.

Building and Grounds

We need everyone's help to keep things tended as it gives a caring impression to those around...if we care about the building, we must also care about their souls. Please talk with Will Hamel to help.

Education - Teachers

- If you are going to be out of town, please let Doug Paul know so your class can be covered.
- There is a still a need for a teacher for the Junior High class on Sunday morning. Talk with Doug Paul.

A Parting Encouragement

"For this reason we must pay much closer attention to what we have heard, so that we do not drift away from it."
Hebrews 2:1, NAS95.

THE CHRISTIAN AND SUFFERING

Pain, suffering, and afflictions are not a possibility in this life; they are inevitable and inescapable. We are told throughout the Scriptures in numerous places that children of God are to endure afflictions, and endure through various trials and pains that will come (2 Tim 2:3-12; 2 Cor. 1:3-8; Rom. 8:18-28; 1 Thess. 1:4; James 1:12). For some, the idea that a child of God will suffer and feel pain in their life seems unfair, undeserving, or simply unjust. They can understand why a non-Christian would suffer and experience pain, but they themselves? A child of God? A Christian? "That is just not fair", some might say. It has been falsely understood before that the words 'Christian' and 'Suffering' do not go together. We will see, however, that they do go together. Very well, in fact.

Paul, in Acts 14:22, had been preaching the gospel and was "strengthening the souls of the disciples, exhorting them to continue in the faith and saying, 'We must through many tribulations enter the kingdom of God.'" From the first century churches, we can see Paul's message of exhortation through the many tribulations of life. Those who were children of God dating back 2000 years endured pain and suffering, including physical suffering, just as we do today. Christians are called to be different, and as a byproduct of this, we are told we will be hated by the world "for [Christ's] name's sake" (Matt. 10:22; Mk. 13:13). Rather than counting this persecution as suffering, let us rejoice in the moments of trial and pain, "knowing that the testing of [our] faith produces patience," (James 1:2-3).

Looking at Christ as our ultimate example in all things, can we not clearly identify the pain and suffering He underwent while He lived here on earth? He, of all people could rightly say that He was undeserving of experiencing such pain, agony, and suffering. After all, He is the Son of God and without sin (2 Pet. 2:22)! But, we know He did so willingly for you and me, as He looked to the Father for support, guidance, comfort, and truth (1 Pet. 2:21-25; Matt. 4:1-11; 26:39). Let us also have this mindset that Christ had, for He is our "example for [us] to follow in His footsteps" (1 Pet. 2:21; Heb. 12:2). When we endure hardships, and temporary pain and suffering, let us also look unto the Father and His Holy Scriptures as Christ did, and, humble ourselves as He did.

In 2 Corinthians 4:8-9, Paul said, "We are afflicted in every way, but not crushed; perplexed, but not driven to despair; persecuted, but not forsaken; struck down, but not destroyed." The persecution and suffering we may endure will not destroy us, contingent that we are proceeding through prayer, relying wholeheartedly on the Lord, and following in His footsteps as He has commanded. 2 Corinthians 1:4 also says that God "comforts us in all our affliction, so that we may be able to comfort those who are in any affliction, with the comfort with which we ourselves are comforted by God." As Christians, we have a duty to help other Christians endure hardships.

Paul summed up this topic well in 2 Corinthians 4:17-18, "This light momentary affliction is preparing for us an eternal weight of glory beyond all comparison, as we look not to the things that are seen but to the things that are unseen. For the things that are seen are transient, but the things that are unseen are eternal." Through the inevitable hardships, pain, and sufferings that happen in life, let us look unto the things unseen, for they are eternal, and they help us endure!
